Kerames is a village and seat of the homonymous community of the Municipality of Agios Vassiliou, in the Regional Unit of Rethymno, Crete. It is 47.5 kilometers from Rethymnon and is built at an altitude of 300 m. It has been declared a traditional settlement.

Kerames is built on a slope of Mount Asiderotas, and has an endless view of the Libyan sea.

In general, the village of Kerames is a traditional village with insular architecture, and a historical settlement with a long history, starting from the pre-Minoan years.

From the picturesque cobbled streets of Kerame, to the central square of the village, do not forget to cool off by drinking water from the village taps, but also to enjoy your coffee in one of the traditional cafes with the hospitable inhabitants of the village.

The beach front that starts north from the village of Akoumia is called Keramiani Gialia, because of the village of Kerames, while south of the settlement, you will also find many beaches, such as Ligres, Triopetra, and the sand dunes of Agios Pavlos.
